ABOUT

Opening doors between deep, melodic and tech house.

DUKKE is a Barcelona-based DJ moving between deep house, melodic house and tech house. Born in Venezuela to an Italian-Colombian family, he has lived in Mallorca, Austria and Munich, and every move opened a new door. His sets are built the same way: a journey from 118 to 130 BPM, made for connection.

OPENING DOORS

Some artists are shaped by one city. DUKKE was shaped by five.

Born in Venezuela to an Italian-Colombian family, his first musical memory comes from the coast of La Guaira: the traditional drum bands that played at family celebrations. Rhythm was the first door.

At fifteen he moved to Mallorca, where reggaeton, salsa, merengue and house lived side by side. In Austria he went deeper into electronic music and found the sounds that truly spoke to him. In Munich those sounds took shape as tech house, deep house and melodic house. Now, in Barcelona, he is opening the next door: defining his identity as a DJ and taking his first steps in the city's scene.

DUKKE first played to a crowd in 2025, at a Halloween party hosted by a company in the creative industry. What hooked him wasn't the decks but the dance floor: watching people respond, and feeling part of the night they were having. Connection is still the point.

His sets travel from 118 to 130 BPM, from the warmth of deep house to the drive of tech house, letting the music and original productions lead. He is completing a master's in music production and working on his first house releases.

The name DUKKE comes from his father's surname, a tribute to the man who taught him to fish, sail, drive, cook and find his way anywhere. Wherever he plays, he carries that with him.
